LoHi, the local nickname for Lower Highland, is the eastern section of the popular Highland neighborhood. Bordered by West 38th Avenue on the north, I-25 on the east, Zuni Street on the west, and Speer Boulevard to the south, it was original Town of Highland. It's home to young singles, urban professionals and growing families, who enjoy the quiet streets and proximity to neighborhoods galleries, great coffee shops and cozy bars. This emerging area is home to exciting new modern architecture, which sit along side historic Victorian homes and brownstones. Within walking distance to downtown Denver, the new Highland Bridge, spanning I-25, connects to the hustle and bustle of LoDo and Central Business District for work and play. LoHi is home to Root Down, The Squeaky Bean, Z Cuisine, Duo and more of Denver's best restaurants.
